This year’s speaker is Capt. Luke Clyburn, president of the Noble Odyssey Foundation and director of the U.S. Naval Sea Cadet Corps program based out of Mt. Clemens, Michigan. Clyburn’s cadet program celebrated its 50th Anniversary in 2022, and over those five decades it has taught hundreds of young men and women seamanship aboard the Pride of Michigan training vessel. Unique in the nation, it has also taught them scuba diving, allowing cadets to participate in numerous underwater archaeology and bathometric surveys, and several award-winning film projects. His presentation will recount a few of the program’s most significant adventures.
